

You can use a media query at the point where you notice the images lose their position, and change the image width again at that point.

You can use a media query at the point where you notice the images lose their position, and change the image width again at that point.

You can use a media